Power Badger: The Engine Heater Controller

The Power Badger's patent pending function is a major leap forward in energy savings and reliable cold weather vehicle starting. Here's how it works: Simply set your desired "Ready Time" and the Power Badger™ does the rest. By controlling the block heater (or pad heater/s) installed on your engine, the vehicle will be ready to start at your desired "Ready Time" using the minimum amount of power necessary.

- Senses outside temperature and adjusts automatically
- Saves energy and $$$... Pays for itself in 1-2 seasons!
- Rugged, weather resistant design, made for harsh winters
- Two Modes:
 - Ready your engine for a specific start time
 - Maintain your engine ready to start anytime
- Controls: engine block heaters, pan/tank heaters, battery warmers, etc...
- 1800 watts capacity

The Power Badger was specifically engineered to function in extreme cold, snowy, icy and wet conditions. The unit's rugged, water resistant design is intended to endure years in harsh northern environments, offering continually flawless performance, year after year.

Until now engine heaters were inefficient, uncontrolled energy wasters. Most engine block heaters use energy all the time (as soon as they are plugged in). The majority of people simply plug in their heater when they get home and let it run constantly, all night long, often wasting 500-1500 watts of power per hour. That's $1.15-$5.45 of wasted energy per day (depending on your heater wattage, climate and local power rates). In cases like these, the Power Badger™ could pay for itself (in energy savings) in less than one season's use, and will almost always pay for itself within 2 seasons use.
