Boards are critical to the success of nonprofit organizations and for profit organizations. Boards need to understand their responsibilities and roles as members of a volunteer leadership group. This seminar will articulate the expectations placed upon board members from a fiscal, legal and moral perspective. It will describe characteristics of good board members and discuss some of the do's and don'ts as part of board membership.

Judy Sharken Simon is a senior strategic services consultant at MAP, her specialty is Board Development and Board training. She has been in the nonprofit field 17 years and speaks nationally on the topic of board performance.

If you have questions about the seminar please contact Ann Fahy-Gust at ann@rochesterarea.org.
